

PROCESS OF MAKING READY-TO-COOK RICE-SHAPED KERNEL

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present utility model relates to process in making a ready-to-cook rice-shaped kernel, the general steps comprising: preparing the white corn flour from 5 white corn grits, and preparing the rice-shaped kernel. The present utility model provides for an alternative to rice, that will be beneficial to relief good supply in cases where there is low supply of rice, and especially beneficial to children due to nutritional content.